Acheson Calls For Military Buildup Of Western World

Denies U.S. Plots Soviet Containment

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson said last night that only a coalition of free powers led by a well armed United States can prevent Russia from engulfing the world.

In a speech at the third annual National Armed Forces Day dinner, Acheson declared that the aim of the United States and its Allies is not "static containment" of Soviet Communism but to win for the free world the opportunity to solve its great problems in its own way.

The purpose of the build-up of strength, he asserted, is to "prevent war from happening" by making it certain that a potential foe will run into difficulty if he attacks.

"The strength of the free world must be organized in such a way," Acheson said, "that the aggressor would at the outset still be engaged in trouble at the point of attack when the full force of retaliation falls upon him."

Turning to the struggle in Korea, Acheson said that the United Nations resistance to Red aggression there "helped break a chain of events which might have led to World War III."

Although he conceded that the ultimate outcome in Korea was difficult to foresee, he contended that the action of the United States and its U. N. allies has already produced a "tremendous accomplishment."

He said that "we must not allow this to be dissipated by impatience or faint heartedness."

"The fundamental situation with which this country has had to deal in the postwar years, he said, is the formidable array of power presented by the Soviet Union and its satellites in Eastern Europe, across the Asian land mass and through China and Manchuria."

"As to intentions, the Soviet Union has made itself perfectly plain. It has demonstrated hostility to all non-Soviet territories. It has taken the idea of conflict from the internal politics and internal society of the Soviet state and extended it to a principle of relations between states."

"One basic fact which stands out, and around which we must build our thinking is that no combination of powers which does not include the United States is adequate to deal with Soviet power and Soviet ambitions. This means that either we join in such an effort or the effort is not made."

"It is also true that the United States acting alone could not prevent further dangerous encroachments of territory and people by the Soviet power."

Settlement Plan Readied

Washington (AP)—Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman called three railroad union chiefs to the White House last night and it was reliably reported that he was seeking last-minute information before making a settlement proposal in the three-year old rail dispute.

Steelman has been negotiating a settlement between the seized railroads and the three big unions—the engineers, firemen and conductors—for several weeks.

Authoritative sources said Steelman was putting final touches on a settlement proposal he hopes will end the dispute over wages and working conditions.

The railroads were seized in August 1950 to prevent a nationwide strike. The three unions are now fighting it in the courts.

The union's wage demands are not the major problem in Steelman's efforts to bring an end to the long dispute. The main obstacle to settlement is a dispute over a demand by the carriers for changes in working conditions and operating rules.

Hopes For Immediate End To Oil Strike Fade As Workers Turn Down Offer

Denver (AP)—Only small, isolated settlements were reached yesterday as hopes for an immediate end to the nation's oil strike began to fade.

Oil and gasoline shortages spread as the hoped-for back to work movement reached no more than a trickle. More commercial air flights were cancelled, especially across the Atlantic.

The government slightly eased one restriction. It authorized the use again of aviation gasoline for agricultural and forest protection purposes.

Delaying an end to the 16-day-old strike by 90,000 workers in 22 unions was a general disappointment over a government bid on wage increases—the big issue—and a desire to haggle more closely over other, lesser details.

Despite recommendations of top union officials that they accept, 10,000 workers covered by the in-

Murray Accuses Sawyer, Seized Steel Industry Boss, Of Being 'Biased'

Philadelphia (AP)—Steelworkers President Philip Murray yesterday accused Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, boss of the seized steel industry, of an "unthinkable degree of bias" in federal handling of the steel dispute.

Murray did not immediately explain his remarks to the closing session of the steelworkers convention, but he hit into Sawyer and told the union delegates that the commerce secretary is "no friend of yours."

Murray read a letter from Sawyer, which said that while workers generally had taken care during the recent three-day steel strike to preserve mill equipment and other facilities, that this "was not universal."

Murray said it is the fixed policy of the steelworkers union in the event of a strike to close down mills and furnaces in an orderly manner to avoid damage. He said that any damage occurring during the recent strike was due to failure of the steel companies to make arrangements with the union for proper shutdown precautions.

"The implication here," Murray said, "is that Sawyer's letter, 'is designed to show that the steelworkers will not protect property.'"

The union leader said that Sawyer knew this, and rather than write the union, the government should instruct steel companies to make necessary shutdown preparations with the union when a walkout occurs.

Murray, at the same time, again called on the steel industry to begin promptly new labor negotiations on the basis of the government's Wage Stabilization Board's (WSB) 26-cent hour package pay increase finding.

About 300 of the 2,500 delegates to the union's sixth biennial convention loudly protested passage of a constitutional amendment to raise dues from $2 to $3 a month, and the initiation fee from $3 to $5. But the majority, egged on by Murray, outshouted and quipped them.

Washington (AP)—The House voted overwhelmingly yesterday for a permanent strong U.S. Marine Corps with a voice of its own, for the first time, in the nation's highest military council.

Brushing aside a protest that it would create a "private army" to be used anywhere on the globe at the President's whim, the chamber passed 253 to 32 a measure to give the Leathernecks equal representation with the Army, Navy and Air Force on the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. At present they are represented by the Navy.

It sets a permanent minimum strength of 220,000 enlisted men plus 22,000 officers, with at least three full-strength combat divisions and three air wings.

The legislation provides a limit of 400,000 men, plus officers.

Philadelphia (AP)—It's going to be hominy grits, rice patties, macaroni puffs, or some other potato substitute for many a diner out in the weeks ahead.

That's because potatoes are scarce, and the scarcity has created what the Office of Price Stabilization and allocators call a growing black market.

The don't-eat-potatoes drive is pretty widespread over the country—and some forceful resolutions have been adopted—but the movement appears unusually vigorous and determined in the Philadelphia area.

The city's hotel and restaurant associations have asked their members to keep potatoes off the menu until the shortage ends.

The trade associations suggest as substitutes, chiefly hominy grits, rice, macaroni and spaghetti.

Joseph E. Mears, general manager of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, plumps for hominy, saying: "Hot grits with a dab of butter are as good as potatoes, pretty near anyway."

Others weren't too sure. Their slant: Grits go down fine in the south, but how can we depend on our customers liking them?

Any way you look at it, it's tough on the fellow who feels nothing can take a potato's place. The manager of a big suburban diner said he resorted to a dehydrated type for a spell—and look what happened. A disgusted customer scribbled "thick waltz paper paste" across the check where the waitress had written potatoes.

Spotters Put Off Date For 24-Hour Alert

The Ground Observer Corps has postponed inauguration of the 24-hour alert which had been set for today, according to Judge Fred W. Davis, Monroe County director of Civil Defense.

The original alert would have covered the 10 Monroe County observation posts. Judge Davis, who received notice of the postponement yesterday, said that no reason had been given, nor had any future date been designated for putting the plane spotters on a round-the-clock basis.

It was stated at the headquarters of the Monroe County Defense department in the courthouse last night that the county post will remain alerted and will be ready when a call comes from the state.

Harrisburg (AP)—The Air Force yesterday called off plans to establish an around-the-clock watch on the skies in 27 states, including Pennsylvania, for unidentified planes.

"Operation Skywatch" was to have started today and continued for an indefinite period. The Air Force said in Washington it was postponed because of objections by defense directors in many of the states involved. No new date was fixed for the start.

Dr. Richard Gerstell, State Civil Defense director, said Pennsylvania was not listed among the objectors.

Air Force officials said 24 of the 27 state civil defense directors expressed concern that "Operation Skywatch" would impose hardship upon civilian volunteers in many areas where lack of numbers would require some individuals to spend many hours weekly watching the skies.

Canada Hikes Newsprint $10 Per Ton

Washington (AP)—U.S. newspaper publishers were in effect handed a bill for 50 million dollars a year yesterday when it was announced that imported Canadian newsprint will go up by $10 a ton on June 15. The Truman administration immediately asked the Canadian government to reconsider and rescind its approval of the price hike, which would be the second $10 boost in less than a year and which would raise the price of the paper on which newspapers are printed to an all-time peak of $126 a ton.

Publisher's representatives said they may ask the government to take further action.

Sen. Edwin S. Johnson (D-Colo.) suggested that a study be made to determine whether the U.S. "should retaliate by upping the price of sulphur, which these newsprint producers must get from us." He called the $10 boost completely unjustified.

Government officials in Washington, and Ottawa attributed the new price by Canadian producers to higher costs and to a difference in the exchange rate for U.S. and Canadian dollars, cutting the return to the newsprint mills.

Before World War II the price of newsprint was $50 a ton.

Knock Out Red Guns

Seoul (AP)—Allied war planes Friday roared out in force in clear, warm skies, knocking out 20 Red guns on the front and cutting the Reds railway in 64 places behind the lines.

Customers, trying to be helpful, keep up a flow of ideas. One asked why not have a fling with corn fritters? Well then, what's wrong with pumpkin fritters? They're real popular in South Africa, and South Africans are a robust lot.

Mashed squash, turnip cakes, carrot casseroles, gobs of cereal fixed up to look like a meat ball—all these and many others have their champions.

Housewives are having their woes, too, complaining that they are unable to buy potatoes in most of the stores, and that it may be several weeks before there is a break in the market.

"Still," remarked a woman shopper, "if I can't get potatoes, I can't eat them, and if I can't eat them, I'll manage better on my diet."

LOADED WITH HIGH OCTANE aviation gasoline, the tanker F. L. Hayes is engulfed by flames following collision with the S. S. Barbara Lykes in the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, 12 miles south of Wilmington. Capt. Roger Sears, of New York, and five other crew members of the ill-fated ship were rescued after they had jumped overboard. Four others, one of whom is Richard E. Oakes, 33, son of Mrs. Hattie Oakes, of Cresco, are missing and believed dead. The fire was still burning last night, preventing any possibility of removing bodies from the wreckage.

Flying Saucers? No, Just Aerial Searchlight Beam

It wasn't a flying saucer.

It was an aerial searchlight beam which swung in circles "over" the East Stroudsburg, Delaware Water Gap area last night for several hours.

The searchlight was operated at a carnival in Newton, N.J., about 35 miles east of East Stroudsburg as the crowd flies.

A low and flat cloud formation apparently was responsible for the appearance of the disc—a reflection of the searchlight beam—which circled counter-clockwise for several hours.

AF Spurns Avoca Site

Washington (AP)—The Air Force told a group of Pennsylvanians yesterday it would be economically unwise and possibly dangerous to locate a proposed air maintenance depot at Avoca, Pa.

Lt. Col. John L. Weber of the Air Force's air base branch, talked with aides of Reps. Flood and O'Neill, Pennsylvania Democrats, at a morning meeting, and with a group including Chamber of Commerce representatives at a Pentagon conference in the afternoon.

Weber told the group:

One—It would be "prohibitively costly" to place the depot in Avoca's mountainous location. One of the most important features of the depot would be a runway which including expansion and safety margins would have to extend nearly 20,000 feet.

Two—Safety regulations—especially for a depot that will be testing repaired jets and other military planes—prohibit any obstruction more than 200 feet high within five miles of the end of the air strip. At Avoca such a radius includes elevations of 2,000 feet or more.

Three—Using as an example the present runway plan of Avoca Airport, which is the commercial airport for Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, some repaired planes at times would have to take off in test flights over Scranton.

Four—All commercial air traffic at Avoca would have to end. This would mean that Scranton and Wilkes-Barre would have to build another airport or do without commercial air service.

Five—The proposed depot must have an extensive air strip because it will have to serve every type of plane that is known and it will be the maintenance base for operations as far away as North Africa. In addition, it will serve heavy cargo planes.

Six—The Air Force studied Avoca last autumn and turned it down.

Rockefeller In Hospital

New York (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., 72-year-old multimillionaire, was operated on yesterday for a growth on the back of the neck. New York Hospital said he wouldn't be a patient more than a day.

MacArthur Urges That Course Of Government Be Reoriented

Detroit (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur urged Americans yesterday to "reorient" the course of government.

The general made his plea in a speech on the steps of the City Hall after being cheered by hundreds of thousands of persons during a spectacular 90-mile motorcade trip from Lansing.

The trip of the 72-year-old war hero reached its climax in Detroit where he addressed a big crowd.

The turnout of citizens was gigantic. City Traffic Director James A. Hoyer said 300,000 persons lined the streets for the eight-mile trip from the outskirts to City Hall.

Addressing "the working men and women of America," MacArthur declared:

"They must insure that the course of government be reoriented from the arbitrariness of autocratic rule which is leading us inexorably toward the regimentation of a military state."

The theme was like that of his speech Thursday night before a joint session of the Michigan Legislature in Lansing. There MacArthur told the legislators that maneuvering for the presidential nomination "sets the stage for the emergence upon the American scene of the ugly threat of a military state."

In Washington, this statement was interpreted as a reference to the Republican presidential candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and it drew mixed reaction.

MacArthur advocated limiting the government's exercise of the taxing power and said he favored a "frugal public administration." He called for continued "social progress." Then he cautioned against what he called "the disease of paternalism."

Allies Give Reds Silent Treatment

Munich (AP)—Allied armistice delegates today were prepared to give Communist negotiators another dose of the silent treatment that infuriated the No. 1 Red delegate Friday.

The rage of Gen. Nam Il, head of the Communist delegation, rose Friday as Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy sat silent and refused to be drawn into debate on the prisoner exchange issue—the last one holding up an armistice agreement.

First Returns Favor Ike And Kefauver

By The Associated Press

Returns from 91 of 2269 districts gave Eisenhower 2,980; MacArthur 439; Morse 128; Stassen 30; Warren 190, and Taft 93 (write-ins).

On the Democratic slate, Kefauver polled 2,155, Douglas 435 and Stevenson 372 in 91 precincts.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower met his first test of strength in the far West yesterday with California's Gov. Earl Warren as his major opponent in the Oregon presidential popularity election.

A predicted record turnout of voters, plus an extra-long ballot, indicated that the results would be slow in emerging.

Also on the GOP ballot were Harold E. Stassen, now virtually ruled out as a top contender, and two reluctant entries in the persons of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) MacArthur and Morse both tried to withdraw.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's No. 1 rival for the GOP presidential nomination, took a breather on this one, but appeared as a write-in threat. His name was not on the ballot.

On the Democratic ticket, Sen. Estes Kefauver faced a shadow opposition from Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas who were entered against their wishes.

In Paris, Eisenhower told newsmen he expects to fly home June 1, reporting first to Washington and then on to Abilene, Kan., to deliver his first major homecoming address on June 4.

In Washington, Sen. Fred Seaton (R-Neb.) told newsmen he has switched his support from Stassen to Eisenhower—with no objection from Stassen. The senator is a prominent Midwest newspaper and radio executive with papers in Nebraska, Wyoming, South Dakota and Kansas.

Meanwhile, W. Averell Harriman, foreign aid chief, climbed into the lead in the nation-wide race for delegates to the Democratic National Convention by virtue of flip-flop changes in the Pennsylvania delegation.

A new poll of the 70-vote delegation showed that many delegates who said they would abide by the outcome of the state's April 22 primary—which Kefauver won hands down—now say they have been released from those promises for various reasons.

The net effect of this was to nick Kefauver for 20 votes in the tabulation, and increase the number of those uncommitted.

Kefauver told newsmen in Washington he thinks the delegates have a moral obligation to vote for him on the basis of his sweeping victory in the Quaker State primary.

Later, the crime-busting senator predicted he will win the nomination even if he denied the majority of delegate votes from New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), a Kefauver backer, agreed.

U. S. Consul's Car Shot Up

Tunis, Tunisia (AP)—French troops, apparently suspecting evasion of the curfew, shot up the motor cars of U.S. Consul General John D. Jernegan and a member of the French governor general's staff in ancient Carthage early yesterday.

No one was injured. But two submachinegun bullets, pierced Jernegan's machine as he drove with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horwitz of Cleveland, Ohio, toward his home at 1 a.m. and several smashed into the car of the Frenchman, William de Peyster, in the same area 90 minutes later.

The consul general, who is leaving this tense French protectorate Monday for home leave and reassignment, said Resident General Jean de Hauteclocque had expressed his regrets and ordered troops in the area not to be so nervous on the trigger.

Though a curfew applies in Tunis and its suburbs, including Carthage, from 8:30 p.m. to 5:30 a.m., officials and diplomats have passes which permit them to move about at will. It was with such a pass that Jernegan was on the road. Horwitz is the representative in Tunisia of the American Joint Distribution Committee, a Jewish welfare organization.

Third Sermon Of Series To Be Presented

Union Mission

FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "fivver," picking up the Parson on the way.

Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference." But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness.

Now I worship in the big "City Church." You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close.

You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are good people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church—big or little—is home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Where Are We Going?

Our attention was attracted this week to a half-page advertisement in a national publication over the signature of Women Investors Research Institute, Inc., with offices in Washington, D. C.

In this cock-eyed economy of ours, we have read many alarming things; statements which make us wonder what we are coming to; but the forth-right pronouncements under the skillful hand of the compiler of this message, really brings us up short.

The message is, of course, addressed to people who have their savings in stocks and bonds of private enterprise. The message asks "are we headed for a dictatorship identical to Mussolini's Corporative state?"

This Corporative state, the message said, controlled production, prices, profits, wage rates and the right to work. It compelled industry to produce what the state wanted, to do business with unions approved only by the state and no one could belong to a union unless he was a member of the political party in power. With all this Mussolini eventually marched Italy down the road of Military Capitalism to destruction.

In the United States today the present control program was put forth as "necessary to protect the 'National Security'."

Production is controlled by the National Production Authority (NPA)—a Federal Board.

Prices are controlled by top Office of Price Stabilization (OPS)—a Federal Board.

Profits are controlled by the heavy tax program of the Federal Government.

Wage Rates are controlled by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB)—a Federal Board.

If WSB recommendations for a Union shop in the steel industry are enforced by the government—that can mean no worker can obtain a job in that industry unless he joins a union approved by WSB, a Federal Board.

This could lead to all other industry control and complete a Federal dictatorship of the corporative state. It could mean, in a depression, government seizure of plants at which time the government could compel operation under government control—even at a loss—to create jobs on the claim that unemployment threatened the national security.

The free right to work, to earn, to profit and to save built this country. These factors built the greatest industrial machine the world has ever seen. It is our greatest national security.

Is all this to be threatened by the corporative state?

The Shoe's on the Other Foot

Had any reason to go to Canada lately?

If you have been there within the past month you have probably had reason to feel like the diner who tipped the waiter less than ten per cent of his check and received a scowling acceptance of his lack of generosity.

For when you go to Canada today and pass out a U.S. dollar bill in exchange for a Canadian dollar's worth of goods, you will probably be told (politely, we hope) that the merchandise will cost you three cents more.

Embarrassing? Of course it is. But you won't have to hark back too far to remember when you went to Canada loaded down with good U.S. dollars and received a dollar and ten cents worth of Canadian merchandise in return.

We wouldn't blame the Canadians if they felt a little smug about the whole thing. There was no question about our smugness when we went to Canada last summer and got ten cents change for each George Washington buck we passed out.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York — The other afternoon, during the course of an extended period of graciously accepting the roar and plaudits of the crowd for having labored long to bring forth a monumentally mediocre book, I found myself speaking into a microphone in what must be the most comfortable, homey radio studio in Manhattan.

The studio is situated in the duplex apartment of Mary Margaret McBride, who for 18 years has reigned as the queen of woman broadcasters. It's a small room containing old and comfortable furniture, two walls crammed to the ceiling with thousands of books, a sinister-looking clock that ticks away the vanishing seconds that rule radio, and one large, pleasant lady who is called motherly by everybody but me. To me, Mary Margaret is much brighter, much more brisk, than the adjective motherly denotes.

For one implausible reason or another I have done a lot of radio broadcasting with a lot of masters of ceremonies. None of these strange citizens comes close to making a guest feel as comfortable as does Mary Margaret, who sits there in a broad, Oriental-type robe, occasionally brushing back her huge and handsome mop of hair, and really talking as if she were just sitting back in the living room with a friend and yakking. I think she probably would make the greatest psychologist in the world. It is hard to resist telling her the story of your life or anything else she wants to know.

Here in New York, the name Mary Margaret usually conjures up a recollection of the most fabulous birthday party the city ever saw. It was held in June of 1949 to commemorate Miss McBride's 15th anniversary in radio—and fittingly enough, it was attended by more than 40,000 women and the man or two here and there, in the Yankee stadium. Miss McBride, who once interviewed a talking horse on the radio, was more conservative on this occasion and merely interviewed Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, at a mike set up near second base.

A writer named Emily Cheyney once said that radio people treat Mary Margaret as a charming but irresponsible child, "apparently because she treats her radio audience as adult humans." This could be the secret of her success, if you are trying to find out why so many million American women swear by her program.

She has an endless series of sponsors whom she talks about endlessly on the air—but she has a kind of persuasive candor. She won't tell you that so-and-so's aprons are the best for making pies, but she will tell you that they're awfully good and what can you be by trying them?

A lot of people don't remember, but Mary Margaret used to be a top newspaperwoman and magazine writer in New York. That phase of her life ended when she says, "I read over one of my magazine stories and I said to myself 'Why—you're just a mediocre writer and you probably always will be.'" So she turned to radio—first as a woman called Martha Deane, and later as herself.

Men who have heard her on the air and haven't paid too close attention may get the idea she is a simple, prattling creature who appeals only to simple, prattling women—but do not kid yourself. The personable Miss McBride is about as simple as a Rhodes scholar with a Phi Beta key.

Mary Margaret almost created a cause celebre in 1936 when, returning from a tour of France, she walked down the gangplank of the Ile de France with a white Angora goat on a leash. His name was Pierrot, he wore a ruffled collar of blue organdie and a blue felt hat with a white feather, and the customs people stamped their approval on him and let Miss McBride lead him from the dock. It developed a day later that the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture considered Pierrot an illegal entry who might easily spread hoof-and-mouth disease from Maine to California.

Mary Margaret rightly showed some reluctance in returning Pierrot to the Proper Authorities, but he finally was shipped back to Paris on the same vessel that had fetched him here.

It has been estimated somewhat conservatively that Mary Margaret has more than six million feminine followers who hang onto her every word, and after being subjected to a remarkably painless interview at her gentleman's, I can see why. When she has her 20th anniversary party, I will be at second base to shake her hand.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Averell Harriman

Normally, Averell Harriman is a quiet and peaceful person, too well groomed, too secure to be bothered by such little things as personal criticism and ridicule. He inherited a great fortune from his father, E. H. Harriman, the railroad builder, and has employed it charmingly. However, Averell Harriman is now abnormal, in the sense that he is sure that he can take on and lick anyone ten times his size, including Robert A. Taft, like Eisenhower, and the effervescent Estes Kefauver. Harriman had never taken on anybody before, which makes it difficult to appraise his fighting skill. He may have been hiding a punch in his gentle, shy manner. Or it may be petulance. In the past, he has been one of those who stand behind the chairs of so-called great men when the photographs are taken. It will be interesting to view this developing pugacity to see what comes of it.

It would be beneficial to the country if Averell Harriman were nominated for President by the Democrats. It would mean that the foreign policy would be debated with anger and irritation. Should Kefauver or Stevenson be nominated, it would be difficult to hold them responsible for the errors in foreign policy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman, George Marshall or Dean Acheson. They could easily say, if they wished, that while they supported the positions taken by the leaders of their party, they nevertheless had not been personally involved in any important capacity in such matters. They were partisans but not responsible.

Averell Harriman has been involved in the development of the entire Roosevelt foreign policy. He was a close personal and political companion of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who liked to have him around. Most of those near the throne, including Sam Rosenman, have gone to the printers with their inside stories. The two who have refrained from such exhibitions of fact and memory are Averell Harriman and George Marshall. They have not told us what the great man told them, or what they themselves saw and did.

Harriman was present at the following important conferences at which the American foreign policy was formed: Casablanca, First Quebec, Moscow (Oct. 1943), First Cairo, Tehran, Yalta.

Kefauver and Taft were present at none of them.

Eisenhower was present at these conferences: Casablanca, First Cairo, Second Cairo.

As a matter of record, Harriman has played a longer and more continuous role in the development of our policy of appeasement of Stalin, of the give-away ideas which have prevailed from Harry Hopkins to Paul Hoffman, of the subordination of American to British interests than Dean Acheson. Actually, Acheson came into this as a leading figure later than Harriman, who has continued at it to this day.

Therefore, Harriman is to be taken seriously. As a target, he is superior to Kefauver and Stevenson. As a defender, he may be able to explain what actually happened at Yalta—about which we still know so little.

It is not surprising that in his new lionlike mood Averell Harriman believes that he can take on Senator Taft. All he could do would be to conduct a smear campaign in which the Taft-Hartley Law would loom large. Harriman, once a Republican, swallowed the New Deal whole. It would be possible to forecast all of Harriman's speeches of this type in advance.

When, however, he says that he can lick General Eisenhower, he stirs interest. General Eisenhower, except for two speeches in general terms, has taken no position on domestic problems. His field has been European affairs. He has even avoided being involved in the Far Eastern controversy.

Therefore, if he is to be defeated by Harriman, who says that he can do it, the procedure must be to attack Eisenhower's record in World War II, and in the handling of post-war matters, including NATO. Only in this realm is he presently vulnerable.

Does then the Harriman threat mean that if Harriman runs against Eisenhower, Harry Truman will open the files of the Pentagon and the State Department to be used against the Republican candidate? For that is where the usable record is, whatever it may be. If Harriman will not use that record, what weapon does he possess that Kefauver does not have? Harriman says that he alone can lick everybody. What with? It would be interesting to discover.

Try And Stop Me

Just before the balloting began in the 1940 Republican Convention, recalls Stefan Lorant, the late Wendell Willkie sought to enlist the support of crusty delegate Jim Watson of Indiana. "Sorry, Wendell," snapped Watson, "but you're just not my kind of dependable, day-in-and-day-out Republican." I am now, maintained Mr. Willkie, though I admit I once was a Democrat. "Once was?" snorted Watson. "Well, let me tell you what I think of converts. If a fancy woman truly repented and wanted to join my church, I'd welcome her with open arms. I'd even usher her personally to the front pew. But by the eternal, I wouldn't ask her to lead the choir!"

Oklahoma and New Mexico recently granted women the right to serve on juries. A total of 42 states can now have feminine jurors.

Scripture—Exodus 20:12; Mark 7:9-13; Luke 2:41-52; John 19:25-27

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee."

That is the fifth commandment, and it is just as timely a reminder of our duty in this modern world as it was in those far-off days when the people to whom it was given were living in the land which their God had given to them.

Indeed, it is a theme that we need to ponder more and more in the complex world in which we find ourselves. Crime is rampant, broken homes are numerous, parents are separating, then marrying second mates, bringing step-parents into the picture, all causing confusion and sadness to the minds and hearts of the younger generation. What parents shall they honor?

In those far-off days, in the land of Palestine, there were those who tried to ignore the commandment. And, sad to say, there were officials of the temple who encouraged them to do so.

Jesus brought the matter into the open, when, speaking to a group of Pharisees, he said to them: "Full well do ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your tradition."

"For Moses said, Honor thy father and thy mother; and, he that speaketh evil of father or mother, let him die the death."

"But ye say, if a man shall say to his father or his mother, that wherewith thou mightest have been profited by me is Corban, that is to say, given to God, ye no longer suffer him to do ought for his father or his mother, making void the word of God by your tradition, which he have delivered; and many such like things ye do."

Once more, as in previous lessons, we find Jesus chiding the Pharisees for their insistence upon the minutest traditions and customs of the great basic laws of the Old Testament, but breaking the fundamental laws of God.

The relationships between parents and children are more emphasized today, in spite of the drawbacks of our age, than it has ever been before. Parents are striving to understand their children, to put themselves in the youngsters' places and to get close to them, so that there may be a comradeship between them.

Brought up in a home where there is love—above all things—and a happy companionship, young people are apt to grow up not only to honor and to lovingly care for parents as the parents grow old, but to take their own places in the world as fine, upright citizens.

We have but one glimpse in our Bible of the childhood of Jesus between the time of His birth to His maturity. The one contained in our lesson is the familiar story of the Boy, now 12 years old and considered virtually a man, according to the Jewish law, taken by His parents to celebrate the passover in Jerusalem.

After the days of the feast were fulfilled, Mary and Joseph began the homeward journey with many others. They had gone from Jerusalem three days' traveling when they discovered that their Son was not with them. They had taken it for granted that He was with some other members of the company.

You can imagine what frightened hearts they retraced their steps to the city, and began their search for Him. The last place they looked was the temple, and there was the Lad, sitting with the learned doctors of the temple asking questions, answering theirs, and astonishing them with His understanding.

When questioned He seemed surprised that they should have been anxious, explaining that He was going about His master's business. However, returning with them to their home He grew in stature, in wisdom and "in favor with God and Man." We can be sure that His life at home was filled with affection and good comradeship.

When the Lord was crucified, there were near the cross His mother, Mary, her sister also named Mary, but with "the wife of Clopas" added; Mary Magdalene, and John the beloved disciple. We are told that Jesus, in His agony, said to His mother, "Woman, behold thy son!" and to John He said, "Behold thy mother!" When all was over, John took the mother of Jesus to his own home.

We are not told why Mary was thus forlorn; it is surmised that Joseph must have died; but she had other children, and her sister was at the Cross with her. John does not explain the why and wherefore, but simply states the case of Jesus' loving care for His mother.

END OF A PERFECT DAY!

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

This is a testimonial to my little State of Connecticut. It's the third smallest in the nation, but by golly, if we are angry, we Connecticutans certainly do something about it.

For instance, take that "Thruway" they were going to build here—or rather I should say they "are" (?) going to build.

The Thruway is a projected new road supposed to take some of the traffic off our main highway, the Boston Post Road.

This new thoroughfare will have to go through a large number of populated communities and will involve the destruction of some homes and public institutions.

A well-known firm surveyed the whole business and submitted its report to our Highway Commissioner.

He, in turn, showed it to the various communities affected and told them "This is IT."

Well, you should have seen the hullabaloo he caused! For months now they have held indignation meetings. They have threatened to sue the Governor, the Commissioner, the people who made the survey and just about everybody else they could think of.

The customs people stamped their approval on him and let Miss McBride lead him from the dock.

It developed a day later that the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture considered Pierrot an illegal entry who might easily spread hoof-and-mouth disease from Maine to California.

Mary Margaret rightly showed some reluctance in returning Pierrot to the Proper Authorities, but he finally was shipped back to Paris on the same vessel that had fetched him here.

It has been estimated somewhat conservatively that Mary Margaret has more than six million feminine followers who hang onto her every word, and after being subjected to a remarkably painless interview at her gentleman's, I can see why. When she has her 20th anniversary party, I will be at second base to shake her hand.

Chewing gum can be removed from moiré upholstery by rubbing it with turpentine.

Connecticut is having a good time out of the thing, and in the meantime the Thruway is, of course, not being built—and may never be.

In one way I think it's a good thing.

While those attending the meetings are inside, they can't use their cars—and thus traffic is relieved anyway.

That's the way we do it in Connecticut.

Here is another example of how we do it.

Two brothers are running a mink farm in the town of Shelton at the intersection of two main streets.

If you have read the dispatches out of Washington, you know that minks are very, very malarious.

But these Shelton minks are particularly smelly.

According to the neighbors, the 650 minks on the farm "would make even a skunk seem mild."

One of the complainants who, in Washington fashion, "investigated" the matter, reported the minks were fed decayed meat and fish, and when excited they emitted a musky odor "which combined with the food they eat, makes even the strongest stomach turn."

In my State of Connecticut they are not as lackadaisical about things as they are in Washington.

There the minks and other animals have long made many stomachs turn, but nothing is done about it.

Not so in Shelton. The citizens complained to the health officer, Dr. Edward J. Finn, who took the matter up with the state health authorities, who in turn ordered a cleaning up of the farm. But that didn't help much.

So the Sheltonians took the case to the Board of Aldermen, and the Board ordered the Aldermanic Health Committee to get rid of the farm.

I understand the owners are looking for a new location now.

I hear—though I cannot vouch for the rumor—that several sites have been offered to them in the District of Columbia, where there is supposed to be a good market for minks.

However, the owners have declined. The market is altogether too shaky at present, they say. It looks as if there might not be much of a demand for minks after November.

Hollywood—Glimpses of Glamerville, starting with the sight-of-my-week: Jean Pierre Atomot flipping Zsa Zsa Gabor's clothes off her, by sleight-of-hand. Or so it seemed.

In "Lili," Jean Pierre is a carnival magician. Zsa Zsa is his glamorous assistant, in a dazzling sequin gown of copper hue. The gown is built in sections that snap off easily. Atomot yells a magic word and extends his arm to work Zsa Zsa, 6 feet away. Workmen offstage yank an invisible wire running through his sleeves and out a hole in his coat. Zip! Off flies half of her skirt into his hand. Then the other half and finally her blouse. What's television got to match that? . . .

Hotels Map Laurel Blossom Time Plans

Several Ideas Presented At PMVD Session

Directors of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau this week furthered plans for the annual Laurel Blossom Time festival and ball which will be handled this year by a committee including Edward C. Jenkins, Buck Hill, chairman; G. P. O'Neill, the Penn-Stroud and Frank Birdsall, Sky Line Inn.

John Stubblefield of Shawnee Inn said his establishment will provide band music for the ball. A fashion show is considered readily obtainable.

Several ideas were presented for obtaining princesses and an outstanding individual to crown the queen. These will be cleared by the committee.

Directors present agreed to underwrite the sale of about 250 tickets. Members of the Chamber of Commerce board will be invited to join in ticket distribution.

Jack Crandall, Pocono Manor, gave a report on the recent Hotel Show which stimulated a lengthy discussion of attendance, varied features and general merits of the show.

A grand total of 7,324 inquiries by vacationers was reported by Jacob Wachman, executive secretary. April had 3,240 inquiries compared with 3,027 for the same month a year ago. Fourteen days of May produced 2,966 compared with 3,751 for the entire month a year ago.

Mr. Wachman said an additional 1,041 were developed from cards supplied the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce and 78 were traceable to publicity.

Announcement was made that the new Poconos folder is almost off the press. A new map is nearly completed.

Directors authorized an advertising plate as a substitute for front license tag. The board adopted a design and ordered 5,000 which will be sold at a nominal price.

Board members accepted the invitation of Jan Stibbe to meet at his Lenape Village, Lake Wallenpaupack on Wednesday, June 18.

A week-end holiday plan sponsored by the National Association of Travel Officials was presented by Ted Jenkins. The board approved the plan.

The executive secretary's report covered comments on the Hotel Show and the dearth of publicity material because members are not in the habit of forwarding usable news items to his office. He noted there is also a lack of usable photos and that too many chances for free publicity are lost because of these circumstances.

He said good results are being achieved from the work of Mike Devitt on publicity.

East Stroudsburg PTA To Meet

The East Stroudsburg PTA will meet at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School Monday night at 8 at which time special films will be shown and other business discussed including the report of the nominating committee.

The main film, titled "You and Your Family" has to do mostly with teen-agers and their relations to their individual families. Two shorts to be screened are: "Building a Home" and "Kitchen Come True." Michael Hannon is president of the organization.

Bruce and Lawrence Reish, Sharon, Brenda and Dwayne Reish, and Jean and Sally Dennis attended the birthday party of Bruce Greene last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schmid visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmid at Bangor Sunday night.

Mrs. Ernest Brewer and Phillip and Susan shared Sunday lunch with Mrs. Thomas Carson.

Court Rules Magistrates In Office Before Jan. 7 May Not Increase Fees

Monroe County's justices of the peace yesterday had their eye on a Washington County Court ruling that justices in office as of Jan. 7 are not entitled to the raise in fees provided by a new law.

So far there has been no test case in Monroe County on the new fees, but a ruling by the Pennsylvania Superior Court would affect justices throughout the State.

The Pennsylvania Motor Federation said yesterday it may seek just such state-wide application of the ruling.

The hike in fees—from $3.50 to $5 for motor code violations—was signed into law by Gov. John S. Fine on Jan. 7. Justices, aldermen and magistrates appointed since then, and others eligible in the future will be eligible for the higher fees.

R. B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the Motor Federation hailed the Washington County ruling, but said the Pennsylvania Magistrates Association has asked its members to charge the increased fees. The Washington County ruling applies only to that county.

A check of a half dozen Monroe County justices showed that they were following the association's suggestion and charging the new $5 rate.

Maxwell said the $5 cost for minor infractions could equal the actual fine.

The Washington County court decision cited a constitutional provision which says, "No law shall extend the term of any public officer, or increase or diminish his salary or emoluments after his election and appointment."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Maybe it's a good thing that I am going to be out of town for the weekend. With all the perfectly good and interesting stories waiting on the copy book for space to shine, there are going to be a lot of people very provoked at me this morning.

And with good reason. Nobody likes to have a Mother's Day program in for the Fourth of July. But you've all been so busy cooking up interesting things to do that it finally resolves itself into a game of blind man's bluff.

Pretty cute bunch of gardeners I grabbed out of the pile, don't you think? The Pocono Garden Club members were supposed to come in the clothes they wear while gardening, and while they approximated it — they should have added the runover shoes, the stockings with runners and a liberal smear of dirt across the nose which is what most gardeners wear.

Pocono Garden Club Devotes Meeting to Members Gardens

Tannersville — The Pocono Garden Club met at the lodge hall May 13 on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Millard Rice presiding. She read a poem "A Garden" by Thomas E. Brown, and a poem of her own composition which delighted the members.

There were 55 present, and in accordance with prearranged plans, the majority were in old gardening clothes, and house dresses. The following visitors were introduced: Mrs. Richards, Mrs. LeRoy Bernard, Mrs. Boushelle and the mother of Mrs. George Humphrey. The report given by the Treasurer showed a substantial balance in the organization funds.

Mrs. Cora Smith announced the schedules for the annual Flower Show are being prepared and will be ready for distribution soon. Mrs. Rice announced that Mrs. Cora Shook is selling green thumb gloves, proceeds for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Co. Mrs. Mathiasen was selling Peruvian bulbs, proceeds to be applied to funds for having the piano tuned.

Mrs. Norah Stadden, reporting for the Roadside Beautification Committee, reported progress on the blinker at Bartonsville, awaiting a State official to check conditions. The matter of the marker at Scot Run is being taken up with the proper authorities at Harrisburg by the school Jr. Historians.

Mrs. James Canfield announced the annual picnic will be held June 11 instead of the 10th, at Buck Hill Falls, at 12:30 and that everyone is to bring their own table service and a contribution toward the luncheon.

Under Timely Topics, Mrs. Granacher spoke briefly on methods of producing best rhubarb and also care of peonies. Mrs. Canfield talked on care of bare spots in lawns, bulbs, and annual seeds, and especially stressed daily picking of pansies to prevent early going to seed. Mrs. Rice gave advice on bulbs, and Mrs. Mathiasen told of methods of destroying tent caterpillars, and Mrs. Rice also reminded members of the free courses being offered by mail by Pennsylvania State College. Mrs. Parcell talked of her work in assisting in a greenhouse of a friend and Mrs. George Werkheiser described her early gardening when children were sent in to the family garden barefooted to care for vegetables. She spoke of her two favorites in her present garden, gifts of friends now deceased which she prizes, an old fashioned poppy and a vine.

Dot Heller described her own well laid out garden; and Mrs. Dunbar compared the gardens of yesterday with those of today, mentioning a well-remembered gate in her own garden, since it was there many a young man lingered to talk.

Mrs. Stadden talked on moles and mentioned two ways of combating them, i.e., by putting bulbs in a wire basket-like affair or a small flower pot before planting, these methods not practical for quantity planting.

The following new members were welcomed into the club: Miss Wilhelmina Meyer and Miss Dorothy Meyer, of Buck Hill.

THE
SHOPPER

I think Elizabeth Arden missed a good bet in the naming of her Italian Duet, the new double lipstick that has caught on so well at Wyckoff's. These lipsticks, projecting from either end of a gilt and plastic case, are in two shades, so that a woman may create her own particular color by using two layers widely varied in hue. It's a clever idea, all yours for only $1 plus tax. And wouldn't a cute name be "Arden's Tu-lipstick"?

The cosmetic department offers two Duffar's specials that look pretty good to me: a package containing enriched creme shampoo and creme rinse hair conditioner for $1, and a permanent, with your choice of golden oil or enriched creme shampoo, at $1.50 plus tax. . . . You know what I like about the handsome new mahogany Necci that just arrived at Wyckoff's? Not just the machine's efficiency, but the fact that the case is beautifully finished on all sides. No matter HOW you look at it, the Necci's perfect! . . . It won't be long now until we'll have use for those Wagnerware corn-on-the-cob dishes of heat proof glass priced at $1 . . . Two very fine Wyckoff Shopper programs are in the making for next week: One, a resume of their trip to Guatemala by the members of the store family, who were scheduled to arrive home yesterday afternoon; the other, a follow-up story by Mr. George Dold of Gilbert, on the displaced family brought here from Poland and aided so generously by Wyckoff customers and friends. Keep listening, each morning Monday through Friday, at 9:30 — and register today at our jewelry counter for the Radio-Telephone Game . . . Bill Wells reminds me to extend you an invitation to witness the demonstration of power mowers by Richard Fredenberg this afternoon at 2, on the corner of Park Avenue and Bryant streets, Mr. MacGregor, sales representative of the Jacobson-Worthington company will tell the story of these splendid mowers and one will be awarded some lucky spectator . . . Scout Leader Classes To Begin Monday

William H. Clark, chairman of District 4 Committee of the Delaware Valley Area Boy Scout Council, said yesterday that beginning Monday at 7:30 in Stroudsburg High School basic training experiences for Cub Scout leaders and Boy Scout leaders will be offered.

Both courses will continue for six weeks. They will include the latest training techniques and ideas on program features.

First session for Boy Scout leaders will be conducted by Robert Wilson, district commissioner. He has served as Boy and Cub Scout committeeman, neighborhood commissioner and presently as district commissioner for Monroe County.

Cub Scout leaders course will be conducted by William R. Raup, field Scout executive. Mr. Raup came to this area from Sunbury last January. He has served as leader of numerous Cub and Scout leader training courses.

The courses are to be under the overall direction of the Leadership Training committee of District 4 including Dr. T. Edward Terrill, Edgar Hall and Eugene Leffler.

Cub course will include program planning, achievement program, den meetings, handicraft ideas, games, songs, skits, yells and many other subjects. Scout courses will cover troop organization and leadership, helping the Scout grow, hiking, advancement procedure, program planning, games, stunts, songs and fellowship.

The work is designed for all unit leaders, committeemen, institutional representatives, parents and all others interested in the program offered by Boy Scouts of America. All churches, service clubs, PTA and patriotic groups are invited to send representatives and obtain basic information and instruction on sponsorship of the Scouting program.

Similar sessions will be held at East Bangor and Easton. The East Bangor meetings begin at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at East Bangor Methodist Church and Easton sessions at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at Easton YMCA.

Rites Conducted For Mrs. Adams

Services for Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, 69, of 706 Ann St., Stroudsburg, were held yesterday at Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Ernest T. Campbell officiating.

Palbearers were Howard Woolver, Ellison Callery, and grandsons George Carman Jr., Marcellus J. Carman, John Carman and Frank Sargent. Burial was at Stroudsburg cemetery.

Deadline Noted

County farmers not already enrolled in the Production and Marketing Administration's soil conservation program for this year have until June 30 to sign up. PMA lists 475 members at present.

Half interest in a Jackson Township tract on the Bartonsville-Neola road has been transferred to Richard B. Walters, that township, according to deeds recorded yesterday at the courthouse.

Grantees were Mr. and Mrs. James Hantj; Safety Patrol awards by Clinton Warner, and Stieghand awards by Mr. Munson. The program opened with the advance of the colors, followed by the National Anthem, American Creed led by Michael Moreken and flag salute. Singing of the Alma Mater brought the program to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Barsa, New York City, et al, sold to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin W. Gross, East Stroudsburg, two Mount Pocono lots on Park Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kim-

I'm proud to say that we have a lot of nice comments about our food at the Penn Stroud. As a matter of fact, I rarely eat out, which should mean something. I appreciate good food.

For that reason, I'd like to introduce you to our executive chef, Mr. Karl Swarz, who should take the bows because he is largely responsible for the good food and the attractive menu. Mr. Swarz started his career as an apprentice at the world famous Hotel Adlon in Berlin and later completed his Continental training at fine hotels in Austria and Holland.

He has made his home in the United States since 1920 where he started out as executive chef at Montauk Manor on the tip of Long Island. He has also been chef at such fine establishments as the Drake in Philadelphia, The Delmonico on Park Avenue in New York, The Alrae, New York and several shore and golf clubs.

Mr. Swarz is one of the most versatile and gifted disciples of Escoffier I ever met and it's hard to stump him on any dishes. As a matter of fact, at the Penn Stroud he features Continental, American, Chinese and Kosher specialties which cover a fairly good portion of the gastronomical world. So if home cooking doesn't taste just right a times, drop in at the Penn Stroud.

Did you know that there are 15,327 hotels in the United States, ranging in size from 10 to 3,000 rooms, with the average being 98 rooms? Housekeeping in these hotels is quite a big business, as these yearly expenses will attest:

Repairs and maintenance $126,850,000
Heat, Light and Power 97,200,000
Laundry 43,250,000
Linens 21,000,000

These are mighty big figures, making our own at the Penn Stroud seem rather small by comparison. Nevertheless, the totals of all hotels help to make the hotel business one of the country's leading industries.

Monroe County is not primarily an agricultural area but there is one "crop" that does bring quite a bit of revenue our way and that is LAUREL. It won't be long now before thousands of visitors flock this way to admire the magnificence of the Pocono Mountain laurel. We're spreading the word far and wide by means of the attractive new "Laurel Time" Stickers.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

There seems to be a rush on no-hit pitching performances of late, as this page featured three such pitching feats in the last two days. Chet Lucki pitched such a game against Roseto for Pocono A. C. on Thursday, while the veteran Virgil Trucks came up with a similar performance for the Detroit Tigers against the Washington Senators. However, both of these jobs were forced to take back seats to the one turned in by Ray Steele, East Stroudsburg High's powerful right hander, yesterday.

Steele has every person remotely interested in the game as much on his toes as the green-eyed scouts who are waiting outside the East Stroudsburg High school front door, for the likeable hurler to graduate next month. There will be a rush on this youngster like there was on California gold in 1849. Gold and Steele compare very favorably in the thoughts of major league ivory hunters at this time.

Ray fanned 21 batters while pitching his hitless masterpiece yesterday, but the thing that really impressed this writer is the fact that the Pike County chucker allowed only free ticket to first base. His control has been the only concern of veteran baseball followers, but the youngsters demonstrated that he also is above par in that department. Only 28 men, including the walk, batted for Fountain Hill yesterday, and 21 of these youngsters returned to the bench dragging their bats like the tail of a scolded canine.

In his last two games Steele has retired 42 batters on strikes, allowed only one hit and walked 10 batters, for a pitching record that would turn any warm hearted kid's face green with envy. Steele has a freight car load of strikeouts and the number of hits given up would fit in a match box. However, Ray's no-hitter caught this scribe with this type-writer down and the work at hand prevented me from checking through the records last night.

Steele pitched the right day for his brilliant performance, as both the A's and Giants had scouts on hand. At least one ivory hunter was present earlier this week when Steele tossed his one-hitter against a powerful Parkland contingent. Ray not only pitched like a grizzled veteran yesterday, but the fast balling right-hander also came up with five hits in as many trips to bat. He was also credited with six runs driven across the plate.

Even though East Stroudsburg had so much to be happy for last night, there was also a sad note, as Pen Argyl High won the Lehigh-Northampton League championship with a 3-0 victory over Bangor, despite a gallant try by the Slaters. Both clubs came up with six hits, but according to the latest information picked up by this corner, they still pay off on the number of runs scored.

While the Cavaliers found themselves between the heights and the depths, the Mountaineers were strictly in a hopeful mood. The protest hearing, requested by Stroudsburg, will be held today, according to information picked up at a late hour last night. Additional word is that the finding of the league will be made public on either Sunday or Monday. If the Mountaineers should win the protest and then finish on the long end of the score in a replay with Palmerton, the situation on W. Main St. would be very pleasing.

Although the official Lehigh Valley League standings appear to be top secret at the moment, it is believed that Catawqua is top dog at the present time with only two setbacks. Lehigh's loss to Emmaus yesterday gives that team three setbacks, the same as Stroudsburg at the moment. Palmerton has lost at least three times. The protest decision will mean a lot in the final standings, but we'll have to wait at least a little while for the results.

George N. Kemp American Legion Post may enter the Northampton County Junior American Legion League. An official announcement along these lines will be made on Monday, following a league meeting in Nazareth. An opening in the circuit was made when Wind Gap dropped out of action. Tom Carmella, athletic officer at the local post, is interested in collecting uniforms from last year's players, in order to have them fixed for the coming campaign.

Stotz To Be Honored Today With Stroud Courier Award

Carl E. Stotz, founder of Little League baseball and national commissioner of the sport, will receive the annual Stroud Courier, official prize winning student newspaper of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, award today at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, at the paper's annual banquet. The banquet is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m.

The Courier, a consistent first place winner in the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest, gives its award to a person outstanding in journalism or public welfare each year.

Stotz is to receive the award on the basis of his service to the youth of our nation. Stotz is to be presented by George Spillane, sports editor of the Courier.

In 1938, Stotz organized a group of boys, who were playing baseball in a lot near his home in Williamsport into teams which met regularly to play. Within two years Stotz had brought enough attention to hear on his project that four teams were playing regular games on a midge diamond in uniforms purchased by local business concerns.

From this humble beginning, Stotz's Little League has blossomed into a national sport, played by boys in over 3,000 teams in 38 states, Cuba, Alaska, Hawaii, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone. The Little World Series brings over 12,000 visitors to Williamsport each August along with such baseball notables as Ford Frick, Connie Mack and numerous big league players. Radio, television and news reel coverage brings all the glamour of the Little League World Series to the nation.

College administrators, faculty members, staff members and their guests and friends of Little League baseball in the Monroe County area are to attend the banquet.

Tomorrow's schedule will feature Reddick and Kunkelton, both winners in last week's two games, in action on the latter's home field, with first place at stake. The winner is assured of the top spot in the standings for the coming week.

Contest
Bushkill and West End A.C. oddly enough both losers in last Sunday's only two games, will tangle on the West End field in Gilbert. Danny Eppley announced last night that Dick Miller would do the pitching and Will Miller the catching for Bushkill. Eppley has also asked that all of his players report at the field by 1 p.m.

Lake Harmony will invade Tannersville, Barrett will play Tobyhanna, at Pocono Pines, and Ansonia will battle Saylorsburg, at Saylorsburg, in the remaining games on the slate.

Steele Fans 21 In No-Hit Game

Eastburg Runs Wild Against Fountain Hill

Fountain Hill — Ray Steele sent one Fountain Hill batter after another back to the bench yesterday as East Stroudsburg High School's mound ace blew pitch after pitch by the opposing batsmen and gained credit for his first no-hit, no-run game of the current campaign, while striking out 21 would-be hitters and allowing only one walk, in a 22-0 victory.

Steele was brilliant as he unwound his long right arm in his best display of pitching thus far this season, allowing only one base runner as only 28 batters went to the plate. Mike Delazaro, Fountain Hill shortstop, drew a walk as the third hitter in the fourth inning, but died on second, where he advanced on a passed ball.

Although Steele thrilled the crowd with his pitching exploits, the lanky mound ace also blasted out five hits in as many trips to the plate and was credited with six runs batted in. Steele's output included a double and four singles.

The East Stroudsburg senior retired the Fountain Hill club on strikes in the first inning, again in the third, once more in the fifth, again in the sixth and wound up actively for the day by retiring the opposition via the strikeout route in the final round. Pike County's gift to the baseball world had at least one strikeout in every inning played.

Offense
Although Steele was the talk of the game, his supporting cast blasted out its biggest total of the season and one of the best offensive shows in the history of the sport at the N. Courtland St. school. A total of 51 East Stroudsburg batters went to the plate officially in the game, not counting two hit batsmen and eight bases on balls.

The Cavaliers, under the pleased eye of Coach Jack Kist scored at least one run in every inning except the first and ninth.

However, the day had a sad ending, as Pen Argyl took the measure of Bangor and won the Lehigh-Northampton League title, despite East Stroudsburg's terrific finishing kick.

The Cavaliers wind up the Lehigh-Northampton League season on Tuesday, when they play host to Wilson Borough. Steele has also been nominated to pitch the final contest of the season.

Pocono A.C. To Entertain Tatamy

Pocono A. C., Monroe County's only entry in the Blue Mountain League, is scheduled to take part in its initial home game of the season tomorrow, with a strong Tatamy contingent providing the opposition at Gordon Giffels field, at 2:30 p.m.

Tomorrow's contest is the first to be played in the home ballpark by the charges of Manager John Schoonover, although another game was postponed by rain. Portland was supposed to be the invader last Sunday before the weatherman stepped in to the picture.

Schoonover announced last night that Bob "Willie" Ellenberger, youthful southpaw, will be the starting hurler for the A. C. contingent.

The remainder of the Pocono A. C. lineup will be the same as that which scored a 4-3 victory over Roseto on Thursday. This means that hard hitting John Drew will handle the catching duties, while Dick Schaller is at first base; Bill Frear, second base; Jim Wertheimer, shortstop; Don Sweda, third base; Bob Schick, left field; Harold Freeman, center field, and either Doug or John Schoonover in right.

There will be no admission for today's contest, but a collection will be taken sometime during the contest.

There are also three other contests scheduled to be played in the Blue Mountain League tomorrow, each beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Portland and East Bangor, both having won two and lost no games thus far this season, are scheduled to match abilities on the East Bangor field.

West Bangor and Stocktown, both losers in their first two outings, will clash on the latter's home diamond.

Roseto and Johnsonville, featuring two defeats in as many outings, will clash on Johnsonville's home field.

Guy "Cub" Possinger

Possinger On Furman's Honor List

Greenville, S.C.—Guy "Cub" Possinger, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Possinger, 864 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, was recently honored with 10 other members of the Furman College basketball team by the United States Rubber Co.

Trophies for "most improved basketball performance" during the 1951-1952 basketball season were recently presented to the Furman team.

Awards were based on findings of the Dick Dunkel basketball rating system, with Furman's rating increase of 27.4 points topping the 777 basketball teams rated this year.

In addition to a large team trophy, individual trophies were given 11 basketball players, the director of athletics, Coach J. Lyle Alley, the assistant coach and student manager.

Possinger is a former basketball star of Stroudsburg High, where he was high scorer and captain during his final season with the Mountaineers.

The present Furman eager attended a year of school at Perkins men Prep, before entering college.

Phillies Nip Reds In Tenth

Philadelphia (AP)—Gran Hamner singled with the bases loaded in the tenth inning last night to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Winner Ken Heintzelman helped his own cause along in the final frame by bunting on a fielder's choice. The victory was number four in a row for the surging Phillies.

Cincinnati — 000 000 110 0-2 5 1
Philadelphia — 000 001 100 1-3 7 6

Local Tournament Set
Glen Brook Country Club will feature its first Scotch foursome tournament tomorrow at 1 p.m. Drawings for the event will take place at tonight's weekly dance at the club.

Freshman Class Captures Top Honors In Pocono High Meet

Tannersville—The Freshman class won top honors in yesterday's May Day Track and Field meet here at Pocono High school, with a total of 49 points, eight more than that rolled up by the second place Sophomores.

The Junior, Eighth and Seventh grades finished in a three-way tie for third place, with 12 points. The Senior class didn't take part in the meet.

Bob Hallet, of the Sophomore class, was the big individual winner, coming home first in the high jump, 60-yard dash and 220-yard dash.

Behind Hallet in the high jump were John Frailey, Freshman, and Don DeHaven, Junior. Don Dyson, Freshman, was second in the 60-yard dash and Ronnie Boyer, Sophomore, was third in the same event.

Dyson and Boyer also finished second and third behind Hallet in the 220-yard event.

The relay races didn't figure in the team scoring and a team of Glenn Price, a Sophomore; Larry Butz, Freshman; DeHaven, and Elwood Mostler, Seventh grade, won the 440-yard relay event.

Gordon Nelson, Freshman, was first in the 100-yard dash, while Lefty Cyphers, Freshman, came home second and Russ Nauman, Sophomore, was third. Ed Price won the softball throw for distance to give Seventh grade some valuable points, while Garry Bowman, Eighth grade, and Butz were second and third respectively.

Janet Rustine, Freshman, won the girls' 60-yard dash, followed by Norma Schuler, Sophomore, and Corinne Cassati, Eighth grade, in that order. Diane Strand, Freshman, was first in the 100-yard dash, while Lois Butz, Sophomore, and Margaret Tallada, Eighth grade, finished second and third respectively.

Mary Learn, Freshman, won the softball throw for distance, with Winnie Malone, Eighth grade, second, and Hilda Hardenstine, Freshman, third. High jump laurels went to Pat Bowman, Junior, while Claudette Singer, Freshman, and Ann Frailey, Junior, was second and third respectively.

Barbara Kresge, Janet Tomsie, Margaret Tallada and Nadine Bloss formed the winning team in the 440-yard relay.

Ten Entries Set For Preakness

Baltimore (AP)—Old Pimlico's entry slammed shut yesterday on the names of 10 horses for the 76th Preakness Stakes, and the fancy steppers may have to negotiate an "off" track because the weather-man promises showers.

If it rains, that will be the only major development of the past 48 hours since the field began to jell for Maryland's most famous race.

Headed Field
Headed by Sub Fleet, the probable favorite, and the dangerous Blue Man, the lineup is just as it shopped up Wednesday. With 10 starters, largest field since 1947, the gross purse would hit $113,270, fourth largest for the race inaugurated in 1873.

Sub Fleet, a flashy bay son of the great Count Fleet, carries the silks of Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana stable, and rates the 2 to 1 favorite on the strength of a second behind Hill Gail in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago.

Braves Down Cardinals, 8-3
Boston (AP)—The Boston Braves tied off against Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell in lusty fashion in the second inning last night to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3.

Attack
The Tribesmen supported lefty Warren Spahn with a nine-hit attack against three Cardinal hurlers. St. Louis — 003 000 000—3 7 2
Boston — 050 020 10x—8 9 0

Browns Clip Rex Sox, 3-2
St. Louis (AP)—Bob Nieman supplied the power while pitchers Earl Harritt and Satchel Paige held Boston to two hits in 11 innings to give the St. Louis Browns a 2 to 1 triumph over the Red Sox last night.

Chestnuthill Rolls Over Coolbaugh

Brookingsville — Chestnuthill High school ran up its third victory in four Monroe County League games here yesterday, with a 13-4 victory over Coolbaugh High, on the winning team's home ground.

The Chestnuthill contingent, currently holding down second place in the standings, did all its scoring in three innings, picking up five runs in the second, two in the third and six in the bottom of the fourth round.

Single Tallies
Coolbaugh was limited to single tallies in the first, third, fifth and seventh stanzas, as Chestnuthill High's John Bonser scattered five hits over the seven-inning route.

Bonsor also lashed a home run in the fourth frame for the winning club, as did Harry Possinger, in the same frame. Bonsor's circuit swing came with the bases empty, while two runners were on the sacks when Possinger hit for the distance.

Carl Dailey blasted a home run in a losing cause in the third stanza.

Former Hurler Dies

Meadville, Pa. (AP) — William H. "Sal" Campfield, who pitched for the New York Giants from 1894 to 1897, died yesterday.

Giants Drop Pair To Cubs

New York (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, beaten eight straight times by the New York Giants, turned on Leo Durocher's pennant winners yesterday afternoon to take both ends of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-4, before a crowd of 11,250.

The twin defeat dropped the Giants into a first place tie with the victorious Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bob Rush pitched the opener for the Cubs, allowing only five hits, one of them a homer by Don Mueller.

Pitchers
Dave Koslo started for the Giants, but was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth after giving

Noren's Hitting Gives Yanks Nod Over Tigers

Detroit (AP) — Irv Noren, a batting flop since he joined the New York Yankees, boomed a seventh-inning home run and then slashed a tie-breaking single in the ninth inning yesterday to grab a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers for the Yankees' Alie Reynolds.

Winning Run
Noren was switched from center field to first base for the first time by Manager Casey Stengel.

Three other Yankee first basemen were laid up by injuries.

Noren rammed a single into center field with one out in the ninth to drive home Gil McDougald, who had doubled and reached third on a sacrifice.

In the eighth inning the Tigers tied the score 2-2 on Johnny Lipon's single and Pat Mullin's double.

Both clubs scored once in the first inning. The Yankee's Phil

The Tigers came back with singles by Lipon and George Kell. Mullin slashed an infield ground-er at third baseman McDougald and Lipon scored while McDougald threw to second for a force-out.

Dodgers Trip Pirates On Labine's Hurling

Brooklyn (AP) — Clem Labine, pitched seven scoreless innings of relief yesterday as Brooklyn came from behind to nip Pittsburgh, 6-4, in a free-hitting game. Ralph Kiner was out of the Pirate lineup with a pulled muscle in his back.

It was the first victory of the season for the blond right-hander whose five wins in the final month almost saved the pennant for the Dodgers last fall. Taking over in the third, Labine allowed only three hits the rest of the way and struck out five batters while walking three.

Knocked Out
Carl Erskine, Brooks starter, was knocked out in the second and the Pirates scored four runs before reliever Joe Black could retire the side.

Duke Snider broke the 4-4 tie in the fifth with his third homer over the rightfield screen. The Brooks added another run in the seventh on singles by Roy Campanella, Andy Pafko and Snider. Pittsburgh 040 000 000-4 8 0

Tobyhanna To Play At Home

Four games are scheduled for the Pocono Mountains Association tomorrow, with Wayne and Monroe County baseball fans ready to take in the action, which is scheduled to begin promptly at 2 p.m.

Tobyhanna, Monroe County's only entry in the circuit, is scheduled to play host to Mount Cobb, on the Coolbaugh High field. It will be the first home showing of the newly formed club, which was supposed to do its stuff before the home fans last week, but the game was postponed because of rain.

On Road
Newfoundland, currently leading the circuit with two wins and no setbacks, is slated to invade Daleville tomorrow.

The other two contests on the agenda will send Moscow to South Canaan and Gouldsboro to Maple Lake.

Kiner To Be Idle

New York (AP) — Ralph Kiner, National League home run king, probably will be out of the Pittsburgh Pirate lineup for about five days with a back ailment.

Kiner, batting a weak .215, remained at his hotel for a medical examination yesterday when the Pirates left for a game at Brooklyn.

Increases In Benefits Go To Railroaders

Approximately 125 Monroe County railroad employees will receive increased unemployment and sickness benefits as a result of a 40 per cent increase on July 1. Amendments to the railroad retirement act signed by President Truman provide for the increase.

H. L. Moyer, Scranton, manager of the Railroad Retirement Board's regional office, estimated last night that 50 railroaders residing in this county and 75 unemployed railroaders here will come under the new benefits.

Under the new law, the maximum amount payable will jump from $3 to $7.50 a day, and the minimum will be increased from $1.75 to $3. Benefits are paid for as many as five days a week up to a maximum of 130 days a year.

To receive benefits in the year beginning July 1, a railroad employee must have earned at least $300 in railroad employment in 1951. Those who earned $3,500 or more in that year will be paid at the top rate of $7.50, while those who earned $300 will be paid at the $3 rate. Previously the minimum rate of $1.75 was paid to employees who earned as little as $150 a year.

The board will not require any increase in contributions from the railroads for at least several years. The increase is designed to offset cost-of-living increases.

The new schedule of benefit rates, listing annual earnings and corresponding daily rate, follow:

$300 to $474 pays $3, $475 to $749 pays $3.50; $750 to $999 pays $4, $1,000 to $1,299 pays $4.50; $1,300 to $1,599 pays $5; $1,600 to $1,999 pays $5.50; $2,000 to $2,499 pays $6; $2,500 to $2,999 pays $6.50; $3,000 to $3,499 pays $7 and $3,500 and over pays $7.50.

Meadow Lake Fishing Club Holds Election

The annual meeting of the Meadow Lake Fishing Club was held at the Elks Club, East Stroudsburg, when directors were elected and officers chosen for the coming year.

The directors chosen to serve one year are: Russ Barhight, James S. Bunnell, George Engelhardt, Berne LaBar and Bert Sylvester. An organization was perfected by the election of the following: President, Mr. Sylvester; first vice president, Mr. LaBar; second vice president, Mr. Barhight; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Bunnell.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance with all bills paid to date, it was stated.

The fish committee reported the lakes had been planted with 1,500 sizable bass last year and plans are for another stocking project for this year.

Mr. Engelhardt was appointed to contact each member of the club for a donation to be given to the Marshalls Creek Fire department.

Pupils Exhibit State Products

Canadensis—The ninth grade history class of Barrett Township School recently presented an exhibit of products made and manufactured in Pennsylvania.

Kathleen DePue was credited with bringing the most articles. The white team, with Richard Huguenin as captain, collected 122 items.

Werkheiser Block Plant Boon To Building Trades

The twenty-third of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James Gaffney

An unusual operation that has proved a boon to the building trades is performed by employees of Claude M. Werkheiser at his cinder and concrete block manufacturing plant on Route 611, north of Stroudsburg.

Sturdy blocks which serve as one of the vital materials used in constructing homes, garages and various type buildings are processed at this plant which began operations in 1947.

No novice to the building game, Werkheiser has worked in many phases of construction since he was 15 years old. He started his own plant "on a shoestring" and turned out the first block Valentine's Day five years ago.

At that time Werkheiser had four employees and today there are eight men working steadily, six days a week with no lay-offs over the years.

Soon after purchasing building lots at the site Werkheiser added his first building and timed it so the block structure was finished just as the machinery arrived.

Since then he built his own home on location and added another building for garage space.

"I turn out quality material here," Werkheiser said, noting that many large competitors who can undersell him on the market are unable to stand behind their product. "Some companies put out blocks with about 50 to 55 percent core," Werkheiser explained. "But our blocks show only from 40 to 45 percent, which makes a much stronger base for building."

Werkheiser pointed out the smaller the core, the stronger the block, since the remaining portion of the structure is firm and able to carry the added weight.

Producing both concrete and cinder blocks, Werkheiser has an ideal setup since he has his own sand and gravel pit on the property and uses two trucks to haul the diggings to the main plant where the machinery is in operation.

Bernard Flick and Ronald Mackes are the men whose task it is to keep the supply rolling from the sand pit to the plant and Thelo Feller and Richard Werkheiser, son of the owner, drive trucks that carry the finished blocks to the customer.

Cinder comes to Werkheiser from Scranton, hauled here in trailer-truck loads and dumped in a huge pile. One mixer and block-making machine operates constantly and, depending on orders, Werkheiser can shift his operations from cinder to concrete blocks in a short time.

Piling the mixed sand and gravel on the floor of the building, immediately next to the machinery, the material is shoveled into a large vat. Water and cement is added and when the mixture is assured of perfection, the vat churns automatically until concrete is formed. From this operation the concrete is carried by a conveyor to the top of the building where it is automatically poured into a large container. From here the concrete, in semi-liquid form, pours to the blocking machine where the product is pressed into form, lifted from the machine and placed on racks for drying.

The blocks generally are left overnight to dry, Werkheiser explained. Some concerns used steam pressure to force the drying process, but the sun's rays and natural warmth of the building do the work for Werkheiser.

Cinder blocking operates in the same fashion. Except in this case cinders and concrete are mixed together instead of sand and gravel. When Werkheiser shifts from one type block to another he empties the space next to the machinery by thoroughly cleaning the floor, and commences operation.

High early cement is used by Werkheiser. He said this makes the blocks more waterproof than others and emphasizes his point by stating his home has been built three years and while not succeeded as yet, has never shown any sign of water seepage.

Imperfect blocks are a rarity because of material used, Werkheiser said. "In the past year I don't believe I have had 300 culls (cracked blocks)." This statement can better be explained by noting that Werkheiser's daily production is about 1,300 blocks.

Contractors and individuals are the source of supply for Werkheiser. He employs no salesmen but has six trucks in motion to distribute his product to Monroe, Pike, and parts of Northampton County.

Werkheiser estimated it would take about 2,000 blocks to build a six-room house. Concrete blocks are more expensive than cinder, he said. Weights of separate blocks also vary, the concrete weighing 48 pounds and cinder, 31 pounds. Blocks at Werkheiser's plant are made in three sizes, four, eight and 12 inches and are utilized in accordance with the job to be finished.

Inside the plant the operations are handled by Kermit Feller, Clark Frantz, Leon Altomose and Peter Serfass. Each man divides his time performing several operations, reducing any monotony that generally accompanies most jobs.

As for the future, Werkheiser hinted he preferred to devote his time to producing quality blocks rather than expanding his facilities for production and chance the risk that inferior blocks may be the result.

Bloodmobile Visit Slated For May 27

Plans for the next visit of the bloodmobile under the auspices of the East Stroudsburg lodge of Elks, Tuesday, May 27, were announced at the meeting this week presided over by Exalted Ruler Ted D. Hoffman with 55 members in attendance.

The local lodge has a goal of 500 pints by July 1. Thus far a total of 339 pints have been donated, Russell Scheller, in charge of the project, said. Inasmuch as the bloodmobile will make two more visits before the deadline, efforts are being made to exceed the goal.

The new corps of officers were in charge of the meeting. Announcement was made that a class of candidates would be initiated Thursday, June 5. The meeting that night will be held at 8, instead of 8:30, to permit the members to see the Walcott-Charles championship boxing bout.

A large delegation of local members and their ladies are going to Wilkes-Barre Sunday afternoon to participate in the session of the Northeast Pennsylvania district, when the new officers will be inducted.

One candidate was elected to membership and two favorable reports were received on applicants.

Plans for a square dance Saturday night, May 24, and the lodge anniversary, June 6 and 7, the former date for lodge members and the latter a dance with ladies as guests, were also announced.

Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting and movies on India were shown.

Tobyhanna Lions Mark Anniversary

Tobyhanna Lions and their ladies dined Thursday night at Johnnie's Inn, Pocono Summit, observing the first charter night banquet of the club. President Ed Bigger presided and speakers praised the club warmly for its successful first year and on its prospects for further successes.

President Bigger, in keynoting the party said that the Tobyhanna club had had an active and fruitful twelve-month, now holds a good membership and has every indication of becoming one of the strongest clubs in Monroe county.

Zone Chairman Harry Drennan of the Barrett club presented the apologies of District Governor Elton Hall and Assistant Sidney Eftros. He said he was glad to have the opportunity of congratulating the club on the efforts it has put forth and the success that has attended them.

Major Morrison, USA, department of engineering recalled the organization meeting of a year ago and said that in a very real sense, the Tobyhanna Lions Club and the Signal Corps Depot had come to town together.

He said that the development of the depot will mean great development for the region and that the club will have much to do with bringing to the community the best results from the changes so

Wife Charges Husband Tried To Kill Her

Easton — A suit for $10,484 was started in the courts of Northampton County this week by Mary Tasko, of Hellertown, against her estranged husband, Joseph Tasko, claiming he tried to kill her by running the automobile in which they were riding into a tree.

Attorney Justin D. Jiruliano, who filed the suit claims the Taskos were married in 1941 and were riding in the car on the Girard College Rd., Middle Smithfield Township, Monroe County last July 15 when the suit says Tasko threatened to kill his wife.

Following the threat, according to the suit, Tasko steered the car from the left side of the road crashing into a tree.

The suit sets forth that Mrs. Tasko claims severe injuries as a result of the crash and permanent leg impairment.

soon to be on effect.

William P. Deering of the Stroudsburg club spoke along humorous lines.

Rev. George Jordan told of having been present at the organization meeting a year ago, having joined the club as a charter member and having served during the year as chairman of the boys' and girls' committee. Instruments for the school orchestra had been purchased.

The club extended thanks to Rev. Jordan for his activities and to the Tobyhanna Methodist Church for providing a meeting place for the Lions.

Singing was featured, Miss Betty Leonard serving as pianist.

200 Scouts Expected At Camporee

Two hundred Boy Scouts, Explorers and their leaders from Monroe County are expected at the annual District 4 Camporee at Snow Hill State Park, near Canadensis, today and Sunday.

Scouts are due to arrive between 1 and 2 p.m. today when they will begin an intensive camping program to demonstrate their proficiency in outdoor skills.

There will be special Scoutcraft games and contests as well as demonstrations of camping skills.

On Sunday morning Catholic Scouts will attend the Canadensis Catholic Church, while Protestant Scouts will hold their own service at the camporee.

The public is invited to visit the Scouts at the base anytime during the sessions, but are especially urged to attend the big campfire early tonight. Scouts will present ceremonies, stunts, games and songs. Highway signs will be erected to direct visitors from Route 230 to the base.

This annual event is under the direction of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Alpha Phi Omega is made up of former Boy Scouts who are students at the college and who want to render service on campus and to the community through the Boy Scout program. William Tregasius is president.

Camporee is under supervision of the Camping and Activities committee of District 4 consisting of Raymond Hartman, chairman; Jacob Kintz, Lester Abelloff and Martin Rowen.
